

A governor is someone who:

- is appointed or elected for a four-year term;
 - commits interest, enthusiasm and time to being a governor;
 - can attend at least one governing body meeting during each school term and may be asked to attend committee meetings (most meetings usually take place late afternoon or during the evenings);
 - familiarises themselves with work of the school, including visiting the school, and keeps up to date with the progress and work of the school;
 - works as a team, deciding on things jointly and sharing responsibilities for the decisions they make;
 - focuses their contribution to governing body decisions upon what is in the best interests of pupils at the school, helping each pupil to develop their full potential;
 - supports the school but also challenges and asks questions about how the school works and the standards it achieves, bearing in mind the governing body's own responsibility to promote high standards of educational achievement;
 - is willing to learn and attend training courses (including induction and data training) arranged by the LA, which are free of charge, and which will improve skills and contribute to personal development.

What we hope you will get out of being a governor – what are the benefits?

- having a very real part to play in ensuring the pupils at the school get the best possible education;
- satisfaction of raising standards;
- achieving value for money for the school;
- giving something back to the community;
- a sense of purpose and achievement;
- training and support in order to help you fulfil your duties and responsibilities;
- new skills which may be useful elsewhere – team work, financial and strategic planning, recruitment and interviewing skills – and that's just for starters!
